Civil (Land Development) Engineers

Named a three-time Morning Call Top Work Place and recipient of the Societas Award for Responsible Corporate Conduct, Barry Isett & Associates (BIA) is a well-respected multi-discipline engineering/consulting firm. We are headquartered in the Lehigh Valley and have offices in Valley Forge, Hazleton, and Forty Fort, PA, and Phillipsburg, NJ. Our associates provide engineering, surveying, and planning services to clients throughout the Mid-Atlantic States. This position will be based in Allentown, PA.

The Land Development Department works on various project types, including: residential subdivisions; commercial land developments; institutional land developments (i.e., schools); and storm water analysis. We are committed to developing long-term client relationships from project inception to completion, so this position provides a broad work environment. Because you will be involved in several projects at one time, involving several team members, we need good communicators, able to multi-task, and work well with others.

Working under the direction of senior project managers, engineers complete the following tasks for specific projects:

- Storm water management;
- Site design;
- Site utilities;
- Land development plans;
- PennDOT/DEP permitting;
- Erosion and sediment control plan;
- Site grading;
- Preparing project proposals, contracts, and reports;
- Attendance and client meetings;
- Client and project management.

Requirements:

- Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;
- Fundamentals of Engineering/E.I.T. certification (required);
- Professional Engineering licensure (a plus);
- Knowledge of AutoCAD and/or Civil 3D;
- Above average written and verbal communication skills;
- Related work/internship experience;
- Ability to work as part of a team;

We offer an excellent potential for personal and professional growth. Our comprehensive benefits package includes medical, dental, vision insurance, life and disability insurances, 401k, employee stock ownership, vacation/holiday/sick pay, supplemental insurances, and flexible working schedules in a professional, yet relaxed environment.
