- charles dudley warner

i apply paint directly from the tube and with my fingers. - john dyer

are we to paint what's on the face, what's inside the face,

or what's behind it? – pablo picasso

*i dream of painting and then i paint my dreams.
- vincent van gogh*

a photography is usually looked at - seldom looked into. - ansel adams

why do you want to study lighting?

why not? lighting is everything and is everywhere.

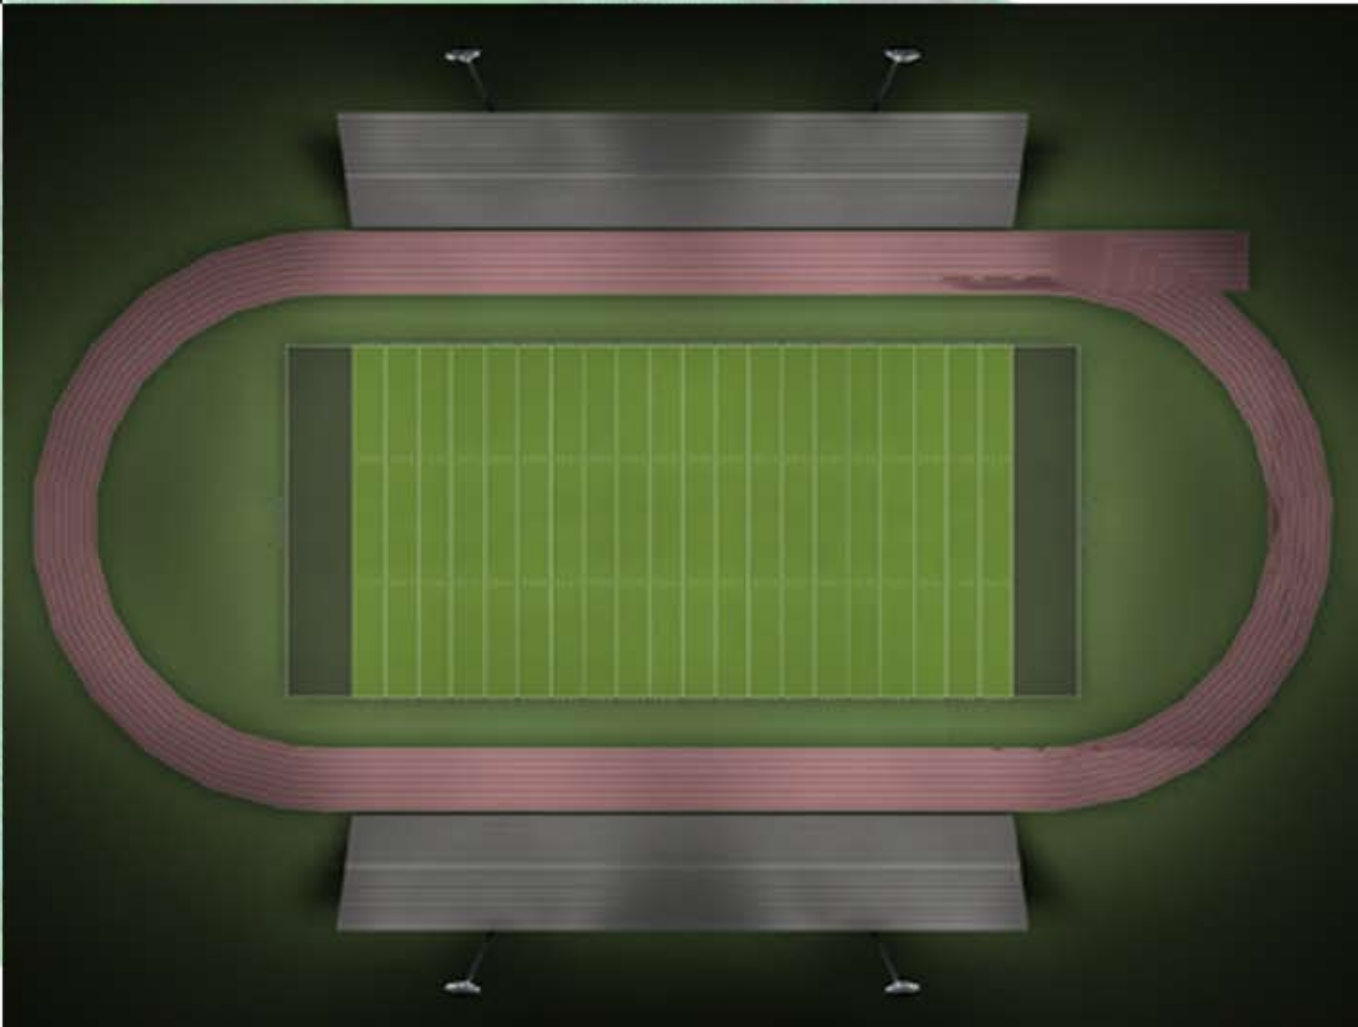

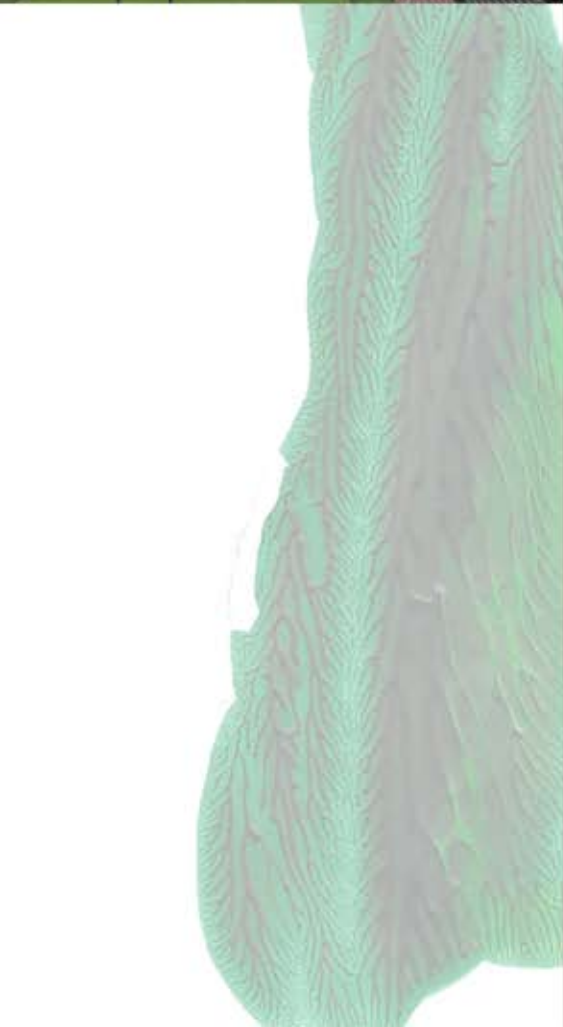

we all need it to survive and function.

without light, we are blind to the world around us.

sunlight embellishes the world, stars decorate the night sky, and lighting beautifies architecture's most exquisite features.

you can not see light but without it you can not see anything.

you can not touch or feel light but you know it is there.

is light a particle or a wave? light is so fascinating and hard to understand.

imagine, better yet DAYDREAM,

about a place where your IMAGINATION can go WILD;

a place that BREAKS

the BOUNDARIES of CREATIVITY;

a place where you can explore your MIND from its CENTER CORE out through its LAYERS and beyond.

step in through the TRANSPARENCY and into a place tha makes your

IDEAS come reality.

welcome to a BUILDING that acts AS A GALLERY.
