The Department of MECHANICAL AND NUCLEAR ENGINEERING at Penn State is one of the nation’s largest and most successful engineering departments. A strong focus on experimental research distinguishes us from many other programs. Our actively growing Nuclear Engineering Program has 8 faculty members and almost 80 graduate students. In the Radiation Science and Engineering Center, nuclear engineering students can take advantage of the Breazeale Nuclear Reactor, the longest operating licensed university research reactor in the country.

FOR MORE INFORMATION:
Dr. Arthur Motta, Chair of Nuclear Engineering
Department of Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering
138 Reber Building, University Park, PA 16802
atm2@psu.edu

Dr. Karen Thole, Department Head
Department of Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering
137 Reber Building, University Park, PA 16802
KThole@psu.edu

www.mne.psu.edu