

HELEN LEENHOUTS.

Working in the integrated project team was an invaluable experience that taught me more than I could have imagined. I learned how to effectively work in a project team across several disciplines. Not only did I learn how to communicate effectively, but I also learned how to collaborate during the design process to make sure all disciplines have the most effective design possible, a skill which I otherwise would not have had to develop as strongly until I joined the workforce. The entire process was educational and beneficial for my future as an engineer.

